ALDTU exists to support Liberal Democrats taking an active role within their trade unions and encourages Lib Dems who want to seek office within their unions. We believe that Liberal Democrat Trade Unionists have valuable insights to offer both the Party and Trade Unions in general. We work to further liberal democrat policies and values within unions, bringing community politics into the workplace. We believe that the Unions belong to their members and are not the exclusive property of any political party. A number of Liberal Democrat Trade Union members have served on the executive councils of their respective Unions. We campaign within the party for closer relations with the Trade Union movement, understanding the problems of working people in the world of work. We seek to inform the Party on industrial policy. We seek to help the Party to avoid committing itself to policies, based upon misapprehensions and misunderstandings of the role of Trade Unions. We campaign for real employment rights and the wider discussion of employment issues. We encourage the development of labour rights throughout the world by working towards international TU solidarity. We monitor our Government's adherence to International Labour Organisation (ILO) conventions and their enforcement in trade agreements. We acknowledge that the fight against slavery still continues.

Help to give Liberal Democrats a more influential role, in influencing trade unions to be constructive partners, in both industry and the democratic process. Making our voices heard both within the Party and the trade union movement as a whole. From the preamble to the constitution of ALDTU "ALDTU endorses the statement in the preamble to the Party Constitution which states that it exists to build and safeguard a fair, free and open society, balancing the fundamental values of liberty, equality and community in which no one shall be enslaved by poverty, ignorance and conformity... 'Championing' the freedom, dignity and well-being of individuals and their rights to develop their talents to the full". Accordingly ALDTU believes that strong, democratic trade unions are necessary to protect the interests of working people in Civil Society and that they are a fundamental part of the democratic process
